

TOILET ROLL CHALLENGE

HI EVERYONE

The Art Department has been busy finding creative ways to rid us of the lockdown blues and one particular (and topical) idea that keeps on cropping up on the art circuit (it is a thing and is very cool) is the ...Toilet Roll Challenge! Fancy having a go?

If you do - please post a picture of your toilet roll to the Pitsford School Facebook/Twitter/Instagram accounts. In addition - please keep the toilet rolls safe for a possible toilet roll exhibition after the madness has ended!

The idea is simple:

Either look up a famous art image online and copy it in any media onto a toilet roll or Find your inner creativity and design an original!

See below an example (poached from another post - I am still pondering my masterpiece)

Hints & Tips

1. You will need:
 - Loo roll
 - Basic drawing or painting equipment
 - Possibly an image for inspiration

2. If you are struggling for inspiration then you could find an image on the internet or in a book to copy.

Once you've got an image in mind, you can draw/paint it straight on to the loo roll or you could draw a light / rough guide to what you want to draw before starting.

3. Don't forget this is a three-dimensional piece of art, your drawing / painting should stretch at least two thirds of the way around, if not all the way around! Consider your full composition before you start.

4. Don't forget to be resourceful... even with a basic biro pen you can apply tone and shade with cross-hatching. If you want to paint but don't have any paints, what about using tea / coffee for staining or use food colouring?

5. Above all...have FUN & ENJOY!
